There is Hope for Recovery.

Options for Hope is ...

Welcoming...

In the past persons with mental health and substance abuse problems often felt they did not fit in with the mental health system or the substance abuse recovery community. They felt lost in between and sometimes this only made symptoms and substance use worse.

Persons dealing with both a diagnosis of a mental illness and a chemical addiction need programs that treat both concerns at the same time. They need programs that understand the challenges of emotional symptoms, the challenges of recovery from substance abuse and the interaction between the two.

Options for Hope is a new program created by Arthur Center, the local mental health services provider, and Hannibal Council on Drug and Alcohol Abuse, Mexico the local substance abuse provider.

Options for Hope seeks to help persons with mental illness and substance abuse enter and maintain recovery from both disorders.

Options for Hope is an integrated program that provides treatment for mental illnesses, substance abuse, employment services, and medication services all at the same time.
